

8th Annual

NAILTA Conference

September 20-22, 2015

Hyatt Regency Baltimore – On the Inner Harbor

Dear Colleagues,

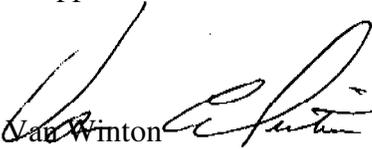

We are thrilled to be returning to Baltimore, which is a fantastic venue for the 8th Annual NAILTA Conference, September 20 – 22, 2015, and I hope that you will join us.

The conference program brings together experts from across the country who between them have a huge range of expertise and experience. Our Education Committee has worked extremely hard to present a high quality conference program. Margaret Sklenar, the Committee Chair and her members will present industry relevant courses as well as panel discussions to ready us all for the upcoming changes and issues for the title industry.

The value and timing of this conference is immense. It offers attendees unsurpassed opportunities for networking, debate, learning, and reflecting with other title and closing professionals from across the country. The official tourism guide for Baltimore describes it as a “walkable city filled with charm, world-class attraction, great shopping and a thriving culinary scene”. I predict that you will return to your work reenergized, brimming with enthusiasm, and full of creative ideas to improve your business.

We would like to offer a particularly warm welcome to those of you who will be first-timers at conference. We hope to make your first conference the first of many.

This is the only conference for independent title professionals, so please attend – you will not be disappointed.

Van Winton
Conference Chair
